

Anne Gannon , Department of Justice Letter to the USSC on the Child Pornography Report	345
Molly M. Gill , Turning off the Spigot: How Sentencing Safety Valves Can Help States Protect Public Safety and Save Money	349

EDITOR'S OBSERVATION

Douglas A. Berman , Can the Federal Criminal Justice System Effectively Identify and Respond to Modern Sentencing "Hot Spots"?	287
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

ARTICLES

Jeffery T. Ulmer & Michael Light , The 2012 U.S.S.C. Booker Report's Characterization of the Penn State Studies: Setting the Record Straight	290
Amy Baron-Evans & Thomas W. Hillier II , The Commission's Legislative Agenda to Restore Mandatory Guidelines	293
Paul J. Hofer , The Commission Defends an Ailing Hypothesis: Does Judicial Discretion Increase Demographic Disparity?	311
Sonja Starr , Did Booker Increase Disparity? Why the Evidence is Unpersuasive	323

PRIMARY MATERIAL

United States Sentencing Commission , Report on the Continuing Impact of United States v. Booker on Federal Sentencing: Overview	327
United States Sentencing Commission , Report to Congress: Federal Child Pornography Offenses: Executive Summary	334